

A decorative border of playing cards surrounds the text. The border consists of a repeating sequence of four suits: Heart (red), Club (black), Diamond (red), and Spade (black).

Basic Euchre - Amy

The Deal

Take out all cards with a value below 9. Take two 5's or a 6 and 4 for score cards. Deal each player five cards with four cards left in the middle with the top card flipped up.

Starting the Game

Each player takes turns deciding whether they want the card in the middle's suit to be the trump suit. If no one takes the suit then you go around again with the opportunity to make any other suit the trump suit. If everyone passes again then you reshuffle. If a player does call trump the dealer picks up the trump card and discards one card from their hand into the 3 card pile which is now the blind.

The Fundamental Rules

The player to the left of the dealer starts with all players after following suit. The trump suit trumps all other cards in the order of Jack(Right Bower, Right), Jack of Same Color(Left Bower, Left, Jick), Ace, King, Queen, Ten, Nine. Highest trump wins a trick and if there is no trick the highest regular card takes it.
Regular card order - Ace, King, Queen, Jack, Ten, Nine.

Ending the Game

The person across from you is on your team and you combine your taken tricks. If the team called trump, they get 1 point if they get the majority of the tricks or 2 points if they get all the tricks. If they get the minority of the tricks then they have been Euchred and then the other team gets 2 points. First team to 10 points wins!!

Special Rules

1. Going Alone - Your partner puts down their cards and you attempt to take all the tricks on your own. If you do, your team gets 4 points!
2. Stick the Dealer - Instead of redealing when everyone passes making trump twice, you instead force the dealer to choose a trump suit. It still cannot be the originally passed suit.
3. Farmer's Hand - If you have 4 or more 9's and 10's in some combination(Two 9's and Two 10's, One 9 and Three 10's) you can take the blind after the dealer has discarded a card into it.