Rummy - Laura

The Goal

To have the least amount of points at the end of the game.

The Deal

7 cards are dealt to each player. Max of 4 players with one deck of best play

The Game

Each player is trying to make runs (all the same suit) and sets of 3 or more until they use all their cards. A player's turn begins when they pick up a card (from the draw or the discard pile). If choosing from the discard pile, they can pick up as many cards as they would like. If they pick up more than 1, they have to be able to immediately lay down the bottom card. Once the player has drawn, they may lay runs and sets on the table. A player's turn ends when they have discarded a card (the discard pile must be spread flat, so every player can see every card). No play may be done by that player after they have discarded - their turn is over. If you wish to end the round, you do not have to end on a discard - you may play all of your cards if you can. Other players do not get a final turn.

Jokers

Jokers are wild cards and can be used in place of any card in the deck. However, there cannot be 2 of the exact same card on the table. This means that if the card you desire to use the Joker for is already laid on the table, you may not use the Joker as this card for your hand. Likewise, if someone uses a Joker for a card that you have in your hand, you MUST give them that card on your turn - they will give you their Joker and replace it with your card, and now the Joker is free for you to use.
